Ever Dream Cosplay

Call me Ever Dream Cosplay.

Ever Dream Cosplay started 4 years ago when a photographer friend invited me to model for him and I arrived at the shoot dressed as a fairy. Since then, I have focused on improving my sewing skills and creating more complex costumes. Because I focus on fantasy looks, I have also developed skills in the construction of wings. I also try to work from a sustainable and cost effective model by sourcing my materials secondhand whenever possible.

With each new look I create and piece I complete, I learn more about the cosplay craft and my own abilities. I am most proud of my two most recent looks, the White Stag and Chandra, Dressed to Kill (based on the game Magic the Gathering). Every outfit I've made tells a part of my story of growth.

As I continue to improve, my goals are two-fold. First, I want to create costumes for others. I'd love to see others wearing my creations and feeling confident, no matter their age or appearance. Second, I want to continue to appear in magazines and share my work with others. As part of that, I hope to expand to working with other models in group shoots. I also want to improve my skills with make-up.

Ever Dream Cosplay is about continuing to dream and celebrate imagination at any age. It's about whimsy and fun, and I hope to continue to share these dreams for many years to come.

Flowers

The bud disappears when the flower blooms. The first replaces the second.

The fruit of the flower metabolism.

These forms not only differ from each other, but also persecute each other as incompatible. But their replacement also turns them into moments of organic unity. Each of them is necessary for the existence of each other. A flower can not exist without a bud. Nor will the fruit exist without the flower. And this equal necessity equals life.

Human life is similar to the life cycle mentioned above. The period of onset is when we are born and first know the environment. Think about how dangerous or enjoyable it is.

Then comes the flowering season, when we consider our strength. At this time each of us is like one another, like a flower,

But each flower is different as a person. Finally, it's time to bear fruit. When everything is clearly seen and lived in the background of past love, betrayal, help, hardship or other experiences.

Flowering is one of the most exciting periods between flowering and fertility. When you paint them, you feel as free as these flowers themselves. It can be said that they are a physical expression of the multifaceted nature of Adam. The same flower can evoke completely different emotions in a person.

Eventually, the flowers leave an emotion of warmth, sunshine, tenderness and joy in the person. You feel all the care that nature gives to these gentle creatures and it evokes positive emotions in people. Flowers seem to remind us of a time when we were young, delightful, free, and full of emotion.

Savannah Robinson

Savannah has always been outspoken, imaginative, creative, funny & very animated since she was a toddler. We've always had people advising us to get her an Agent or stopping us while out in public commenting on how beautiful & unique her red curly hair is. She began to show interest and inquire about acting, modeling & singing, in addition to her ability to draw freehand. We enlisted her with Prestige Talent Management in 2021 where she flourished & gained so much confidence while learning Runway Modeling, Monologues, Commercial performances & Acting techniques. She is very good at memorizing her lines when given a monologue, commercial or script and adds her own pizzazz any role assigned to her. She did extremely well at the finale Agent Showcase at Prestige Talent & was 1 of 7 kids (out of approximately 25) chosen to attend a big annual iPop Convention in January of 2022. She really showed her skillset at iPop amongst hundreds of other Performers, Parents & Agents in attendance and caught the eye of 16 Agents on Showcase Day, which was handed to participants as a list with their contact info. iPop was a grueling week of Monologue, Commercial & Modeling Auditions, but so much fun in the process. She was recently Scouted while out in a mall & invited to an unexpected Audition, and while it was sudden and nerve wrecking, she was given a Commercial Script to memorize within a half hour's time. She Auditioned for celebrity, Hutch Dano in a room full of other child contestants & parents, and nailed her performance! Savannah received a Call Back that evening & upon return the following day, enlisted with CGTV to attend their week long training & performances for Agents in Hollywood in January 2023. We're extremely excited for her future endeavors in hopes she can accomplish her dreams & goals of being an Actress and/or Model, who eventually wants to create her own clothing line. Since she was very young we've always had her involved in: Gymnastics & Swimming Classes. Additionally, she was on the Dance Cheer Team during elementary school and loves creating Tik Tok videos, playing with makeup, dancing, playing with her French Bulldog named Lola & loves to travel.
